

Advances in Polar Science

Contents

Vol.28 No.2 June 2017

Thematic Issue: Review of CHINARE Progress over the Last Three Decades

Editorial

Reviews

- Holocene climate change and anthropogenic activity records in Svalbard: a unique perspective based on Chinese research from Ny-Ålesund 81
YANG Zhongkang, YUAN Linxi , WANG Yuhong & SUN Liguang
- Progress in Chinese research on water masses and circulation in the Arctic and subarctic ocean 91
CAO Yong, ZHAO Jinping & SHAO Qiuli
- Review of research on Arctic sea ice physics based on the Chinese National Arctic Research Expedition 100
LEI Ruibo, ZHANG Zhanhai, LI Zhijun, YANG Qinghua, LI Bingrui & LI Tao
- Advances in Chinese Arctic and subarctic research in marine biology and ecology with emphasis on the Pacific Arctic sector 111
LI Hai, LIN Longshan, SONG Puqing, LI Yuan, ZHANG Ran, LIN Heshan, LIN Rongcheng, HAO Qiang, ZHANG Fang & ZHANG Guangtao
- Progress of Chinese zooplankton ecology research in Prydz Bay, Antarctica 120
LI Chaolun & YANG Guang
- Ecological responses of typical Antarctic marine organisms to climate change and anthropogenic impacts 129
YANG Lianjiao, HUANG Tao, XIE Zhouqing, LIU Xiaodong, ZHU Renbin, CHU Zhuding, WANG Yuhong & SUN Liguang
- Review of CHINARE chemical oceanographic research in the Southern Ocean during 1984–2016 139
CHEN Liqi, CHEN Min, ZHAN Liyan, QI Di, GAO Zhongyong, WANG Jianjun, XU Suqing, CHEN Kui, ZENG Jian & ZHANG Run